

Issue 23 August 16th, 2014

Top links

Ham Radio payload to circle the Moon, transmit JT65

China has announced plans to launch a lunar orbiter carrying an Amateur Radio payload that will transmit JT65 on 145.990 MHz.

ARRL

Neighbors claim Ham Radio tower causes cancer

Armando Martins, 73, has also had to fight off accusations the signal from the 10-metre aerial is interfering with people's pacemakers and hearing aids.

KentOnline

QRP 1,000 miles per watt from the campground

The kids are starting back to school this week, so we thought we would get in one more family outing before life gets crazy.

amateurradio.com

Chasqui-1 CubeSat beacon launches from ISS Monday, live on NASA TV

Chasqui-1 will provide a number of functions that include taking pictures of the Earth. The 437.025 MHz beacon can transmit either 1200 bps AFSK AX.25 or 9600 bps GMSK.

AMSAT-UK

Ham responds to property manager regarding HR.4969

I am a long-term amateur radio operator, and I serve as the current emergency coordinator for the Clark County Amateur Radio Emergency Service's volunteer team of amateur radio operators.

Las Vegas Review-Journal

NASA looking for Mars communication services

NASA has issued a Request for Information that explores options to buy commercial communications services to support users on Mars.

KB6NU

D-STAR Ham Radio satellite repeater test

A test of the D-STAR Parrot Repeater on the TabletSat-Aurora satellite is expected to take place on

Subscribe to our email list

437.050 MHz

Southgate

Local public radio reports: Making contact in the 'Olympics' of Ham Radio

Two by two, competitors representing 38 countries were called to the stage at the World Radiosport Team Championship, held last month in Westborough, Massachusetts. They're not identified by their names, which nobody knows anyway, but by their call signs.

WBUR

Video

Huntsville Hamfest to be webcast live this weekend

Interviews, give-aways and more from W5KUB in Huntsville, Alabama.

W5KUB

Pelican 1200 case review with Elecraft KX3

Before you make a case selection for your KX3 you need to think about how you will primarily be using your rig for amateur radio operation.

N0HYD

And finally...

Hack an oscilloscope, get a DMCA take-down notice

Southgate

Amateur Radio Weekly is curated by KK4HSX. Thank you for reading! 73!

Share this:

 powered by emma

Subscribe to our email list